

Those who have completed all the problems given in previous lab can start doing the following exercise. If not finish all the pending programs and start with these programs.

1. Implement the concept of inheritance in an organization for maintaining personal details, appraisal evaluation, payroll calculation.
2. Create abstract methods and inherit it for implementing banking operations.
3. Implement call by value and call by reference for swapping of two numbers in java.
4. Write a java code to have finalize method and show garbage collection call.
5. Create a complex java program with final methods, final class, regular class, regular method apply inheritance to it.